Aventail's Managed VPN Delivers Easy Integration With Windows NT and Includes Features Such as VPN-On-Demand(TM) and Credential Integrity(TM)

Aventail VPN(TM) V2.5 Available Today at WWW.AVENTAIL.COM

SEATTLE, Aug. 25 /PRNewswire/ -- Aventail Corporation, the leading developer of managed Virtual Private Network (VPN) software solutions, announced today the availability of Aventail VPN(TM) v2.5. Continuing Aventail's commitment to deliver a suite of highly secure and easy-to-manage VPN software, Aventail VPN v2.5 includes support for Security Dynamic's SecurID and Windows NT Group Authorization. In addition, unique features such as Credential Integrity(TM), VPN-on-Demand(TM), and Secure Computing's "SmartFilter" have been added.

"Aventail has delivered another high-quality version of its VPN software, which allows corporations to easily build a secure VPN for their mobile/remote employees or outside users like partners, suppliers, and customers," said Evan Kaplan, president & CEO of Aventail Corporation. "Creating a VPN can be headache to manage and implement, but Aventail VPN v2.5 simplifies the process for IS managers and end users."

Mobile/Remote, Business-to-Business, or Supply-Chain VPNs

Aventail VPN is a client/server product that enables corporations to privately communicate, share applications, and securely exchange information over the Internet.

Aventail's managed VPN provides a suite of services beyond basic encryption, including detailed access controls, user-based authentication, key/certificate management and distribution, active content filtering, intelligent logging and reporting, and the ability to secure any TCP and most UDP clients including Java, ActiveX and custom corporate applications.

Aventail VPN is the only VPN solution that is compatible with any firewall and tunneling protocol such as Microsoft's (Nasdaq: MSFT) Point to Point Tunneling Protocol (PPTP) and Cisco's (Nasdaq: CSCO) Layer Two Forwarding (L2F).

The latest version of Aventail VPN adds these additional features and enhancements:

- * Security Dynamic's SecureID Support. In addition to CHAP, RADIUS, SSL, DES, MD4, MD5, SHA-1, and RC4, the latest version of Aventail VPN now includes support for SecureID. Based on user-authentication hardware and software tokens, SecureID generates an unpredictable, one-time access code every 60 seconds.

- * Windows NT Group Authorization Support. Integrates into the pre-defined Windows NT group lists and builds access controls based on Windows NT group lists.

- * Credential Integrity. Enables IS managers to authenticate users based on their credentials, even when the connection is passed through multiple SOCKS servers.

- * VPN-on-Demand. Allows users to automatically establish a secure connection over the Internet by simply clicking on any TCP/IP application, eliminating the tedious process of manually creating a VPN tunnel. IS managers can specify which applications and destinations are secure without end-user intervention.

- * Secure Computing's SmartFilter. Prevents users from accessing content/Web sites that could lower employee productivity.

- * Installation Improvements. Aventail VPN adds a security shield that provides specific administrator-only permissions on the installation directory and files. This prevents unauthorized individuals from modifying access control parameters and filters or deleting files such as configuration, log, and server executables.

Pricing and Availability

Aventail VPN v2.5 is available today worldwide. Bundled client/server solutions start at $7,995. Quantity discounts are available. The server supports Windows NT, Sun Solaris, AIX, BSD/OS, and Linux. The client supports all Windows platforms, Sun Solaris, Linux, and BSD/OS.
